

BAR TALK

Fun things to do while drinking

By Gator

If you party with Gator, Don't pass out!

It's an unwritten rule of thumb that if you pass out in a public place or at a party from drinking too much, you are "fair game" for any pranksters present.

Now, I ain't saying this is a nice thing to do. In fact, it's downright cruel sometimes. But on the other hand, those who remain conscious deserve a reward for out-drinking the occasional lightweight who dares to poop the party by crashing before the sun comes up and the police paddy wagon is called out. So there is a time and a place for desecrating those who cannot hold their liquor well enough to outlast the merry prankster.

There are a few supplies you will need, most of them can be found in your house or somewhere close by. First of all, you must have a camera. This is the only way you will have of documenting your work of art for future generations. A phone camera might work, although some purists will use only the highest quality film cameras with tripods and filters. I've seen great shots taken with a Polaroid. If you do not have a camera, you can't get full enjoyment out of this. Sharpie pens are also a must. Lipstick, makeup, vegetables, condiments, and many other common items may be used. And Nair.

Write funny slogans on the victim's anatomy, things like "Insert penis here —>" or "Gay Pride". Squirt catsup to simulate blood, or squirt mayo all over their face for the "porn star" look. Put Nair on one or both of their eyebrows.

Keep taking pictures.

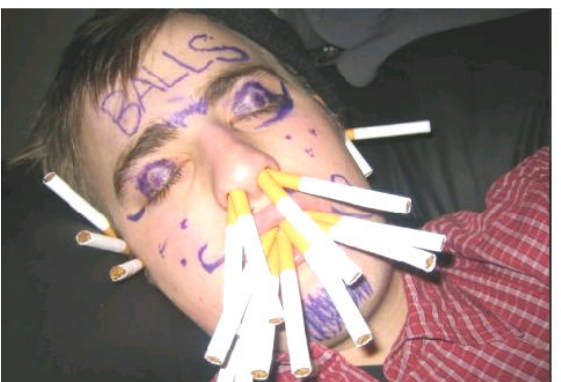

For advanced pranks, add a roll of duct tape or break out the saran wrap. Although fire has been used in pass-out pranks, I advise against it. You may accidentally burn your fingers. The old trick about putting someone's hand in warm water making them piss is false, however, you can use water or beer to wet their crotch and everyone (including them) will assume they have wet their pants.

Crazy glue is good, but don't glue their mouth or nose shut, unless you're all into the whole homicidal thing. You really should be careful about obstructing airways. The guy pictured above with a whole pack of cigarettes actually suffocated and died – the photo was taken by police detectives. A friend of the victim was eventually arrested and charged with Reckless Distribution of Tobacco and given probation, so be careful – you could end up facing misdemeanor charges if someone dies!

Plus, a lot of the fun is when the victim wakes up and sees himself. Have a mirror handy when wake-up time arrives. There are a number of ways to wake up a drunk person and get them to come to sudden awareness. Cold water is good, except that it might mess up what you've done. I prefer to shake them by the shoulders and shout "Dude! Your MOM is here, with the COPS! And they're NAKED!" These key words signal certain tiny receptors in the brain that scientists call "Sobrietyons", which can bring the person very quickly to a temporary state of alertness that is remarkably akin to actual soberness.

Afterward, the victim will be pissed off. This is unavoidable. If the victim is your friend, and you wish to restore their trust in you, use deflection: "Dude, everyone was telling me to stick a cucumber in your ass and draw a face on it, but I said NO WAY! I didn't want to totally humiliate you!" They may even thank you for being so considerate!

Finally, email the pictures to: gator@gatorpress.com and we will be pleased share them with the rest of the folks on this planet via internet.

GATOR